About the NewToBC Immigrant Demographic Profiles

NewToBC is pleased to share this 3rd edition of its Immigrant Demographic Profiles; the first edition was developed in 2013 and the second in 2018. Using Census 2021 data, profiles have been created for the 14 Greater Vancouver / Fraser Valley communities that received the greatest number of new immigrants over the last census period (2016 – 2021).

The profiles include useful data on countries of origin, languages spoken, age at immigration, education levels, employment, income, religion, and more. Library staff and community service providers have found these profiles invaluable for service planning and funding proposals. Immigrants, the business community and others have found the information useful in understanding their communities and their newest residents.

About the District of West Vancouver

The District of West Vancouver is located northwest of the City of Vancouver on the northern side of Burrard Inlet and the south-eastern shore of Howe Sound. Both are inlets on Georgia Strait, sometimes referred to as the Salish Sea. It is bordered by the District of North Vancouver to the east and unincorporated mountainous areas to the north.

The West Vancouver Memorial Library has 1 location.

Land Acknowledgement

NewToBC acknowledges that West Vancouver is located on the traditional and unceded territories of the Coast Salish People, in particular, the Słkwxwú7mesh Úxwumixw (Squamish Nation), səliłwətaʔt (Tseil-Waututh Nation), and xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam Nation).

The National Picture

In 2021, Canada welcomed a record number of immigrants — 406,000. Immigrants made up 23% of Canada's total population, also a new high. Nearly 70,000 chose B.C. in 2021; this marked the second-highest level of international immigration to B.C. on record.

100% sample data for total population and 25% sample data for immigration status (Census 2021)

- ▶ The number of immigrants settling in B.C. almost doubled between 2016 and 2021; 38,085 arrived in 2016 and 69,470 in 2021.
- ▶ In Census 2021 British Columbia's 1.42 million immigrants represented 17% of the national total. Only Ontario, with 4.2 million, had more.
- ▶ 29% of all British Columbians were born outside of Canada, similar to Ontario's 30% and notably higher than the national level of 23%.
- ▶ During the census period, B.C. welcomed 14.9% of Canada's recent immigrants; Ontario welcomed 44%.
- ▶ NOTE: Census 2021 encompasses a portion of the Covid period, when immigration levels were low, and does not capture the strong post-Covid increase.

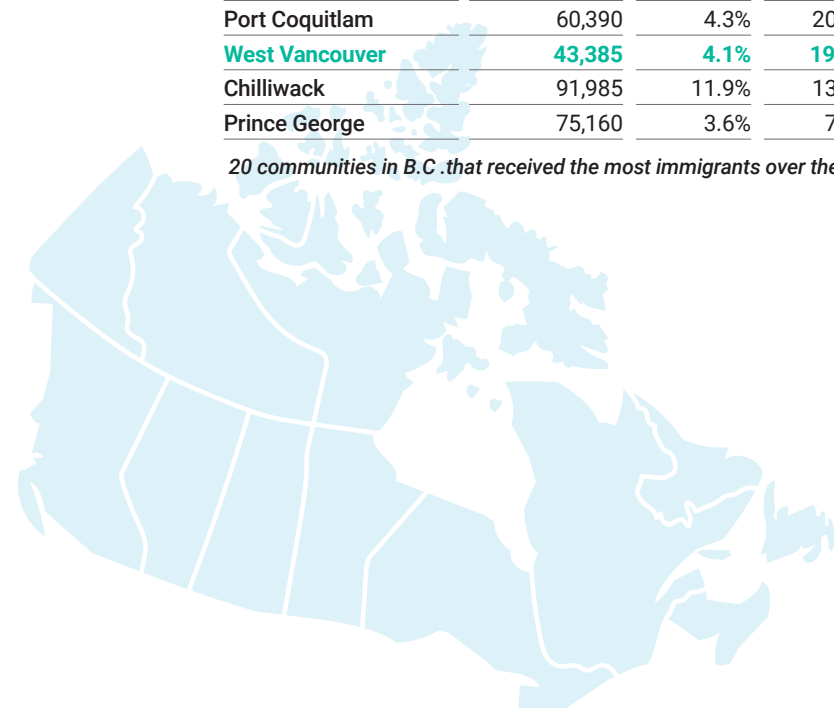

Immigration to British Columbia

These were the 20 B.C. municipalities attracting the largest numbers of immigrants during the Census period – 2016 to 2021.

- ▶ In Census 2021, 76.4% of all B.C.'s immigrants and 78.4% of recent immigrants resided in Greater Vancouver.
- ▶ Recent immigrants accounted for more than 80% of total population growth in Greater Vancouver.
- ▶ In 2021, West Vancouver was the 18th largest recipient of recent immigrants to B.C.

20 communities in B.C. that received the most immigrants over the last census period (2016 – 2021)

In 2021, West Vancouver had 43,385 residents, of whom 19,815 were immigrants. Both immigrant and overall populations are growing slowly, by 6.4% and 4.1% in the most recent census. These represented an increase from the previous census, when total population showed a slight decline.

Immigration to the District of West Vancouver

Recent censuses underline the role of immigration in the district's population growth.

Population and Immigration Trends: (2001 - 2021)

- ▶ While West Vancouver's population growth has been slow, it would have shown significant decline if not for immigration. In fact, immigrants have accounted for 257% of net population growth over the past two decades.
- ▶ The percentage of immigrants has steadily increased, from 35.7% in 2001 to 45.7% in 2021, significantly more quickly than in Greater Vancouver. However, during the latest census period, the growth rate of the immigrant population decelerated slightly.

Immigrants by Age Group

Census data illustrates the emphasis placed on those of core working age within Canada's immigration system.

- ▶ Immigration is a key economic solution to Canada's aging population. In 2021, the average age of recent immigrants in West Vancouver was 34.2, compared to 52.5 for immigrants and 44 for the Canadian-born.
- ▶ Only 6% of recent immigrants in West Vancouver were aged 65 or over, compared to 30% of immigrants and 27% of the Canadian-born.
- ▶ In 2021, the core working-age group (25-54 years) accounted for 57% of recent immigrants in West Vancouver and 40% of all immigrants, significantly higher than the 22% of the Canadian-born.

Immigration is playing a significant role in addressing Canada's low birth rate and its aging population.

Period of Arrival

West Vancouver has a large proportion of immigrants who have lived in Canada for 40 years or longer.

- ▶ In 2021 recent immigrants made up 10% of the immigrant population, lower than the regional level of 14%.
- ▶ More than one immigrant in five (21%) had lived in Canada for 40 years or longer.

Age Distribution - West Vancouver (Census 2021)

Racialized Groups in West Vancouver

- ▶ A significant majority (67%+) of both immigrants and recent immigrants identify themselves as members of a racialized group, also known as visible minorities.

- ▶ The representation of racialized groups mirrors the pattern in the Greater Vancouver region, albeit at slightly lower levels.

The percentage of the total immigrant population identifying as racialized is significantly lower in West Vancouver (67%) than Greater Vancouver (80%).

Countries of Origin

China has lately become the primary source, followed by Iran.

▶ China and Iran are the top two countries of origin for immigrants to West Vancouver, and by a significant margin, together accounting for 49% of immigrants and 51% of new immigrants. Of these, China is clearly ascendant, with 39% of new immigrants. Iran, which has been a prominent source for several decades, has lately been declining but still accounted for 12% of new immigrants.

▶ Making up 10% of recent immigrants, the United States has emerged as the third largest country of origin, surpassing the United Kingdom.

▶ Several other countries that are largely absent from B.C.'s Top 10 lists appear on West Vancouver's, including Russia, Japan and Ukraine. Given the current immigration policy supporting displaced Ukrainians, the latter may show further gains in the 2026 Census.

China, Iran and the U.S. were the top three source countries for recent immigrants to the District of West Vancouver.

Immigration Arrival Categories

West Vancouver has witnessed a decreasing proportion of immigrants in the economic class, though their share remains high.

▶ Census 2021 reported that 72% of recent immigrants arrived in the economic class, compared to 78% of all immigrant to West Vancouver. Despite the slight reduction, the proportion in the economic class remains significantly larger than the regional norm.

▶ In concert, the proportion of immigrants arriving to West Vancouver in the family class has been increasing. Among recent immigrants, 26% were sponsored by family, compared to 16% of immigrants.

▶ The affluent municipality is not a common destination for refugees. In 2021, only 4% of immigrants and 1% of recent immigrants were refugees, significantly lower than corresponding percentages for Greater Vancouver.

Languages Spoken

A majority of immigrants speak non-official languages at home, but the proportion is dropping.

▶ In Census 2021, 59% of recent immigrants in West Vancouver spoke non-official languages most often at home, slightly more than Greater Vancouver's regional level of 56%. Both percentages were notably lower than the corresponding figures in 2016, when 73% of the city's recent immigrants and 62% of those in Greater Vancouver spoke non-official languages. This suggests that both district and region have been attracting recent immigrants with proficient official language skills.

▶ In line with source country data, Mandarin remains the most spoken home language among West Vancouver's recent immigrants, followed, in distant second, by Iranian (Persian).

Immigrants and religious affiliation (Census 2021)

- ▶ At 56%, the proportion of recent immigrants reporting no religion or secular perspectives is significantly higher than the regional average of 38% and also marks an increase from the 50% reported by all West Vancouver immigrants.
- ▶ About one quarter of total immigrants (27%) and recent immigrants (25%) are Christian.
- ▶ The proportion of Muslim immigrants remains significant but has declined to 12% of recent immigrants, versus 15% for all.

Percentage of population with English as a mother tongue

▶ Over time, there has been a significant decrease in the comparatively high percentage of residents who speak English only as their mother tongue. This proportion dropped from 69% in 2001 to 56% in 2021, a decline that accelerated during the last census period.

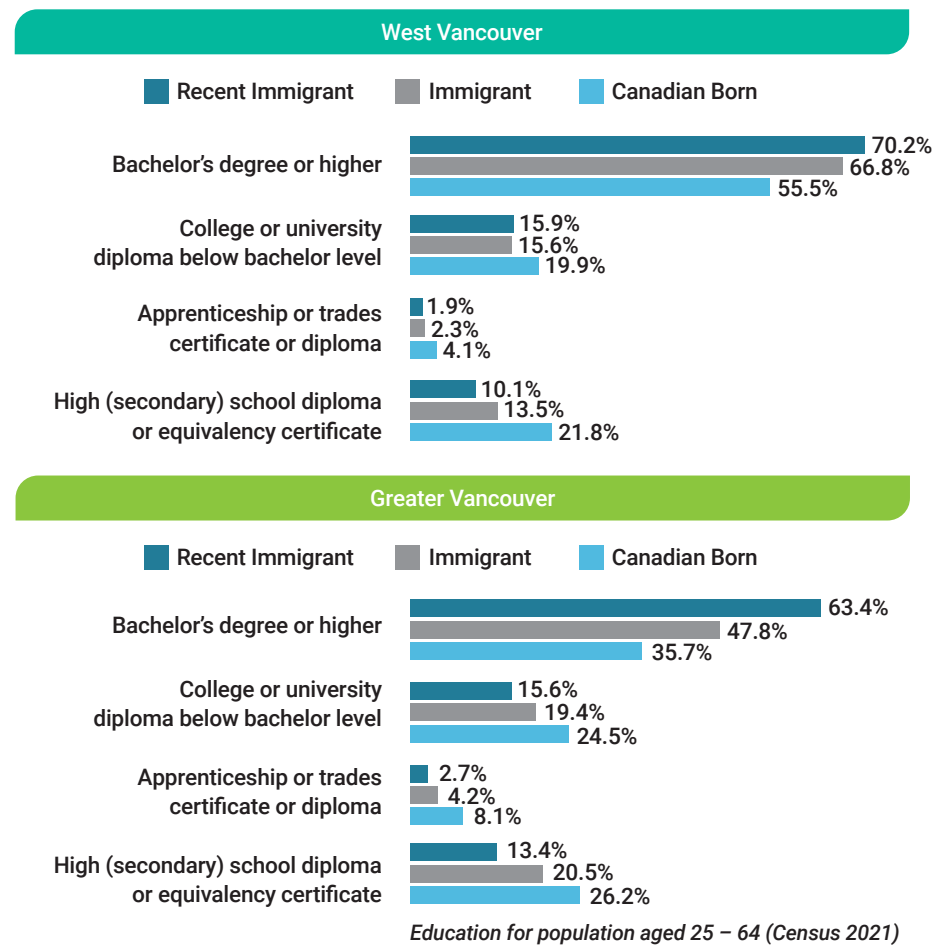

Language Trends (2001-2021) - By % of Population with English Only as a Mother Tongue

Education Levels

Immigrants are highly educated, with recent immigrants the most educated of all.

- ▶ Recent immigrants between the ages of 25 and 64 were highly educated, with 70.2% holding a bachelor's degree or higher, versus 66.8% of immigrants and 55.5% of the Canadian-born.
- ▶ Moreover, education levels are rising rapidly. In 2016, 64% of recent immigrants to West Vancouver and 60% of its immigrants had a bachelor's degree or higher.
- ▶ Compared to Greater Vancouver, education levels in West Vancouver are significantly higher across all groups.

Labour Force Participation

Immigrants account for almost half of West Vancouver's work force.

- ▶ Labour market participation rates were notably low across all groups in West Vancouver, while for immigrants and new immigrants, unemployment rates in 2021 were unusually high, even when keeping in mind that all unemployment levels were temporarily elevated by the effects of Covid 19.
- ▶ Nonetheless, West Vancouver immigrants and recent immigrants represented 48% and 5% of the labour force respectively, compared to corresponding rates of 44% and 6% in 2016.

Occupations

Recent immigrants, immigrants, and the Canadian-born follow similar paths, with only minor distinctions.

- ▶ In 2021, the professional, scientific and technical services sector was a predominant employer across all groups in West Vancouver. In all cases, the proportions were significantly higher than the Greater Vancouver average.
- ▶ Recent immigrants were underrepresented in finance and insurance, as well as real estate and rental and leasing, while strong in retail trade.
- ▶ In other respects, employment across the groups was remarkably similar.

Income

The income of immigrants has risen somewhat, but still trails that of the Canadian-born.

Total Income

- ▶ Census 2021 reported a notable increase in income across all groups in West Vancouver.
- ▶ The median income of recent immigrants almost doubled, from $17,686 in 2015 to $30,000 in 2020. Also rising significantly was the median income of immigrants and the Canadian born, up 23% to $39,200 and 37% to $55,600 respectively.
- ▶ Increases for West Vancouver immigrants were lower than elsewhere in Greater Vancouver.

Employment Income

- ▶ Census 2021 reported better employment outcomes for recent immigrants in West Vancouver. About 22% of the recent immigrant labour force worked full-time for an entire year with employment income in 2020, up from 15% in 2015.
- ▶ Recent immigrants who worked full-time and for an entire year earned $76,000, up 80% from $41,990 in 2015.

- ▶ Full-time recent immigrant workers earned slightly more than immigrants, but 20% less than the Canadian-born. Nevertheless, it's worth noting that income gaps have narrowed compared to Census 2016, when recent immigrants earned 30% less than immigrants and 40% less than the Canadian-born.

Glossary of Terms

Census refers to the population Census of Canada, which is taken at five-year intervals and counts persons and households and a wide variety of characteristics to provide a statistical portrait of the country.

Total Population refers to the total population counts in private households of a specific geographic area, regardless of immigration status on Census Day.

Canadian-born refers to a person who was born in Canada. The Canadian-born population also includes a small number of persons born outside Canada who are Canadian citizens by birth.

Immigrant refers to a person who is or has ever been a landed immigrant or permanent resident. Such a person has been granted the right to live in Canada permanently by immigration authorities. In the 2021 Census of Population, 'Immigrant' includes immigrants who were admitted to Canada on or before May 1, 2021.

Recent immigrant refers to a person who obtained landed immigrant or permanent resident status in the five years preceding a given census. In Census 2021, this refers to the period from January 1, 2016, to May 11, 2021.

Greater Vancouver is a regional district (Census Division) often known as Metro Vancouver. It is comprised of 21 municipalities, one electoral district and one First Nation (Tsawwassen). It borders the Strait of Georgia to the west, the U.S. border to the south, Abbotsford, and Mission to the east, and unincorporated mountainous areas to the north.
